Dear Karim and Skander,

Esteemed colleagues, as the global umbrella organization for more than 150 pediatric societies, the International Pediatric Association has more than a century of experience in collaborating and actively supporting partnerships that help children and save lives around the world.

The International Pediatric Association wishes to affirm our strong support for the student exchange programs managed by the International Federation of Medical Students' Associations. This letter serves as our recognition that this program contributes significantly to students' understanding of global health issues.

We remain steadfastly committed to maintaining this mutually beneficial program and wish IFMSA every success in its endeavors. Thank you for all you do in making the world a safer and healthier place for all children everywhere.

On behalf of the International Pediatric Association,
